

day, February 9, 1982

NHERULIE

Non-Profit Organization PAID U.S. POSTAGE Fredericksburg, Va. 22401 Permit No. 216 P.O. Box 1115, Fredericksburg Virginia

Mary Washington's Weekly Student Newsmagazine

Volume 55 No. 11

Former Senator Eugene McCarthy

McCarthy Proves He's a Poet

The Reading

by SARAH KOSAK

Former Senator Eugene McCar-thy, liberal activist and two-time presidential candidate, spoke Thursday in Dodd Auditorium. His speech, entitled "The Poet and the Politician," allowed McCarthy the chance to read his own poetry to a college audience.

The lecture was originally scheduled for Monroe 104, but the large crowd made it necessary to move to Dodd. Though there were many grumbles from those who had arriv-ed 45 minutes early for good seats. the crowd seemed eager to hear Mc-Carthy's talk and poetry. Claiming his life of liberal politics was "just to get my poems published," Senator McCarthy launched into what some in attendance said was a fascinating, and often very funny lecture on presidents and poets. He discussed Abraham Lincoln, the first self-proclaimed poet in the Presidency. He also compared the last five presidencies and their at-titude toward poets and their use of poetry in speeches. According to Mc-Carthy, Carter appeared to be the only "appreciative" president, in-viting 100 poets to tea with his wife. McCarthy stated, "I wasn't sure whether or not to take it as an insult that this was the only time I was invited to the White House."

McCarthy later read some of his own poetry. The first few poems were of a "political" nature-one con-cerning President Lyndon Johnson's love of deer hunting, and the other about Joe Califano's argument that his department was in charge of killing chickens. Though grisly at times, the poems did a very good job vocalizing many governmental idiosyncracies from McCarthy's perspective.

Though McCarthy told the au-dience that "all war poetry is bad poetry," he proceeded to read two poems from the Vietnam era. McCarthy was an outspoken critic of the Vietnam war starting in 1968, and his poetry expressed that feeling. The first, "Mailai Conversation," was a soldier's conversation with a little boy who gave water to a dying man, and was then shot for it in the ensuing massacre. Perhaps considered the best of McCarthy's poems, "Mailai Conversation" left poems, "Mailai Conversation letti many listeners doubting whether the reasoning behind Vietnam was ra-tional. McCarthy's second Vietnam poem was entitled "Kilroy," poin-ting out the lack of Kilroy was here graffetti during Vietnam, and thus "The Lament of an Aging Politician" followed and was exactly what its titled suggests. "Are You Running with Me, Jesus?" pointed out McCarthy's religious leanings.

See MCCARTHY, page 3. . . Senate Proposes Diversity In Pub Entertainment

by KATHY LYNN KEY

The Senate Special Projects Committee has been working this semester on providing students with an alternative to the atmosphere of the Pub. On February 24, from 8:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., the committee is sponsoring a coffeehouse in the Pool Room. The idea is to have a quieter, more intimate atmosphere, more like a night club. The Special Projects Committee plans to sponsor a coffeehouse at least once a month this semester. Students will entertain by singing, playing musical in-struments, and reading poetry. Dale Williams has agreed to perform on the 24th. There will be no admission

The Dining Hall Committee presented an idea to the Senate on February 2 hoping to get their assistance in carrying it out. They want to pick one meal out of the enester in which students will agree not to go to the Dining Hall. The committee will send the money that ordinarily would have been spent on that meal to the World Hunger Foundation. If a student has a question or would like to suggest a meal time, he should talk to his Senator.

The SA Entertainment Committee is presenting a reggae concert featuring The Mighty Invaders and Premiere International on February 12 at 8:00 p.m. in Dodd Auditorium. The cost is $4.00 for MWC students and $5.00 for guests. Tickets will be on sale Monday, February 8 through Thursday, February 11 from 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. in the Student Information Services, Acl 202 and at the door

Veinstock To Head Self-Study, Surveys

der the direction of Associate for Academic Services Roy B. stock, Mary Washington Colis conducting an Institutional Departmental Self-Study. A ber of the Southern Association Colleges and Schools, Mary hington is required to have its editation re-affirmed every ten s. To do this, S.A.C.S. appoints is to do this, S.A.C.S. appoints listing committee to review all ects of the college and college life. college itself is required to supp-the visiting committee with a port prepared by the self-study preparation for the surveys, ten andard Committees" were form-each representing a different ect of the college, such as library financial resources, as determin-by S.A.C.S. guidelines. Each of Se Standard Committees, comse Standard Committee, ed of faculty and students ap-nted by the Student Association, came up with a list of questions they believed that the S.A.C.S. review committee would like to have answered. The groups compiled their questions and each has a section in the surveys that have been sent and the surveys that have been sent out.

According to Weinstock, six According to Weinstock, six hundred surveys were sent out to randomly chosen students who represent a cross-section. About twenty-five percent of degree-seeking students received surveys. Nine different surveys geared to more specific groups such as faculty and alumni were sent out.

Although Weinstock admits that survey returns are risky proposi-tions, he hopes that the surveys will be treated with the attention they deserve and that the opportunity they represent for students to comment on such a wide variety of issues will grarantee that sufficient data will be received.

Once the surveys have been returned, the computer center

tudents Voice Opinions n Academic Changes

by JENNIFER SPORER

Ad Hoc Committee on ademic Regulations and Advising mally presented its proposed nges in academic regulations at February 3 faculty meeting. The posals consist of a package of ten nges concerning academic mat-s such as attendance, readmission cies, internships and probation-pension. If passed by the faculty, see regulations will take effect tudents have expressed many acerns about the proposed attender policy change. This attender regulation states that in all

100-and 200-level courses students can only miss 15 percent of the class periods. That percentage is defined as six 50-minute class periods, four as six 50-minute class periods, four 75-minute class periods, and two 150-minute class periods. The penal-ty for missing in excess of these limits will be the lowering of the final grade one letter grade. Further absences will result in forced withdrawl. The original proposal allowed for no differentiation between execused and unexcused

Of the proposal, senior Tim Pier-point said, "They never enforcee the tabulates and prints out the results. The various Standard Committees then receive the surveys. The "comments" pages will be removed from the booklets, and these, too, will go to the appropriate committees, which will write their own reports. The process of compiling the material will begin early this sum-

See CHANGES, page 5

While the College is engaged in this self-study, each department is also working on a self-study, which, when completed, will also be compil-

The Institutional Self-Study and the Departmental Self-Study will provide the S.A.C.S. review committee with most of the information it

The review committee will probably interview people and do their own research in making their

"We've had the fullest cooperation from the people we've dealt with," said Weinstock, adding that the pro-ject is ahead of schedule. Weinstock expects the two reports to be ready for inspection and review by faculty students and administration early next fall, before the S.A.C.S. committee arrives in the Spring of 1983.

Weinstock further stated that he perceives the chief value of the selfstudy is in giving the College an op-portunity to take inventory and ex-

Last Friday, senior graduation was 100 days away, and these smiles tell it all. From left to right are: Erin Devine, Marty DeSilva, Georgiana Hall, Libba Kepley, Anne Sketchley, Betsy Rohaly, Beth Doyle, Tim Pier-point, Erma Ames, Barbara Dixon, Jennifer Blair, Barbara Cahill, Mike Bennett, Jim Pierpoint and John Hoff-

EDITORIAL: More Equity

In Drug Laws Needed

The United States Supreme Court has just sentenced Roger Trenton Davis to 40 years in prison. If he serves his full sentence, on the day of his release, he will be 76 and the year will be 2022. Davis was originally convicted in Wythe County, Virginia in 1974. He appealed his case three times and it was eventually brought before the Supreme Court where the original decision was upheld.

Davis was convicted for the sale and possession of nine ounces of marijuana.

In 1974, Wythe County was a community of 25.000 where liquor by the drink was illegal and the local newspaper touted the informed opinion that "The use of marijuana by young Americans is of tremendous help to the Communists.

The fact is, marijuana may someday be legalized in every state, rightly or wrongly. Any judge who sentences a man to forty years imprisonment for an action that may someday be legal--an action there is doubt over the illegality of, is stepping overboard. We can be pretty sure that same judge would not sentence a man guilty of taking "liquor by the drink" to forty years in prison.

Our hearts may tell us Davis's punishment is cruel and unusual, but more importantly, statistics and precedent prove it. In 1980, Davis's crime received an average sentence of 3 1/2 years . Was Davis more guilty than your average pot smoker? Did he perhaps inhale more deeply or was he a better salesman? Was every other judge mistaken?

Davis is not alone. About three years ago, a 27-year-old Danville man, a paraplegic, was sentenced to 21 years in prison for possession of 1/3 of an ounce of marijuana with intent to sell. Governor Dalton later pardoned the man and reduced his sentence to one year.

Clearly, our courts are confused.

It cannot be right that the maximum sentence in Virginia for second degree murder is twenty years, while a forty year conviction for nine ounces of marijuana is possible. Three times Davis's sentence was termed cruel and unusual by federal courts. The Supreme Court reversed these decisions, angry that federal judges had interfered with state law-- "no matter how misguided the judges of those courts may think it to be," they said.

Davis has received an injustice at the hands of our justice system. He does not care that federal courts interfered with state law. He cares that he is to be put away with "murderers, rapists thieves..." Davis complained, "I'm trying to find a way out, looking for people to help me, anybody really, anybody that knows it's wrong, has some compassion...When I get out, I'll be old. My life will be over.'

Maybe Davis will be out on parole in seven years. Maybe he will be locked up for two decades. Maybe Governor Robb will pardon him. Nevertheless, the courts should have served justice the first time around; or perhaps that is too much to ask. First, they have to make up their minds.

Jacqueline Conciatore

Housing Office Inconsiderate, Inefficient and Unthinking

To the Editor.

While most of us were working diligently over our winter break so that we could barely afford the simple pleasures of college life, Dean Johnson found this an inadequate amount of time to work on Room Consolidation before the return of the students. Students received notice of the Consolidation Policy during the middle week of school.

Now, into the third and fourth weeks of school, students will be asked to moved or pay an additional $250. Who has $250 to give up during a semester notorious for the expense of school-related activities?

Students who were forced into sharing their room with as many as three others last semester are again being stacked up three and four to a room like chickens on a truck while other rooms sit empty. These residents did not request single rooms, they simply left it up to the housing administration to handle over winter break, which they failed to do.

understand that the college needs to economize. But what comes first, the possibility of saving a few dollars on fuel/electric bills or the well-being of the students that foot

Let us concede that Consoli is a reasonable policy. Why is ing implemented during the week of school, a time of aca pressure? Furthermore, if a consolidates with a person they are not compatible, the stuck with them for the rest semester.

This can only lead us to one sion. The Housing Office is a of small thought, little concer of small thous.....low efficiency.

Respectfully subm
Sharon A
Virginia Ha Carolyn

The Third Column

Were They For History?

by JOHN CHERRY

"They were for history. He was always wanting to get exactly what was said... to pinpoint exactly what was said. They were for history and he wanted them for that, and he never once went back and listened to

They were for history. That is the explanation offered by Evelyn Lin-coln, President John F. Kennedy's personal secretary, for his secret taping of almost 600 conversations and meetings in the Oval Office, Cabinet room and over the telephone. The tapes, subject of a banner headline in The Washington Post last Thursday, were recorded between July of 1962 and November of 1963-sixteen of the most turbulent months in re cent history. Some of the topics discussed and recorded were Cuban missile crisis, Berlin, and the formative stages of the Vietnam war. Among those unsuspectingly taped were former presidents Dwight Eisenhower and Harry Truman, General Douglas MacAr-thur and most of the White House staff and Cabinet.

The historical value of these recordings can hardly be calculated. Indeed, to actually listen to National Security Council deliberations on the missile crisis must be the ultimate experience for academics who never themselves enter the world of power To Don H. Fenn, director of the JFK library in Boston, "It is bound to become the primary source on how John F. Kennedy's mind worked."

According to Mrs. Lincoln tapes were for posterity only, used in the preparationof Ken memoirs and the final hist record. Of course, they may have had other uses: embara political enemies, dissermembers of his own staff, foreign leaders unaware that comments were being preserv the "record.

It is said the telephone is a enemy of historians; before it vent much public business was ducted in letters that is now over the wire, and lost forever. Kennedy (and Nixon) tapes are history's gain, but perhaps pure ed at the expense of their histo reputations. This is certainly to Nixon's case- what they will te the New Frontier remains to be

Escort Service Still On for Safety

by MARY F. SMITH

If you're afraid to walk alone at night, the Mary Washington Escort Service, promoted by the Campus Safety Committee, may be some

The service, currently comprised of nine MWC men from Jefferson Hall, was started to protect women from the possible dangers en-countered in a predominantly female environment.

Started last Started last spring by Westmoreland Hall residents, the service was not officially recognized by Campus Security until October of 1981. The organization was designed specifically to escort female students to and from the pub, the library, the store and any place where she may not feel safe.

Each member of the receives a special pink identification card. The current members are James Addington, Kyle Balderson, Joe Campbell, William Coleman, Terry Hill, Todd Horn, Chris Lan-don, Charles O'Brien and Dan Steen.

When asked why he joined the Escort Service, Terry Hill, a 20-year-old junior, replied, "I felt like it was a good thing to do. I'm a nice guy."

James Addington, a 22-year old senior added, "Everybody complains that guys here don't do anything.

We do care about other people's ty and we're willing to do some about it."

To request an escort, a stu-should call Campus Police at a sion 4634 before 12 a.m., Su through Thursday and 2 a.m. Fr and Saturday. In the event of emergency, call Campus Police assistance.

In addition to the promotion of Escort Service, the Campus Sa Committee is responsible for the stallation of the lights out Chandler Hall and sponsoring upcoming film, "How To Say No A Rapist And Survive.

The Bullet

Mary Washington College Fredericksburg VA 22402

Editor In Chief Associate Editor News Editor Features Editor Sports Editor iness Manager

Circulation Manager Layout Manager Personnel Managers

PRODUCTION STAFF
Meg Bell, Barbara Eckler, Julie Finn.
Kosak, Melinda Harris, Lin Hiller, Williams, Lizanne Spranger, Monica Vogel.
Spatz, and Whitney Hargrave.

THE BULLET is published every Tueduring the regular session of the college.
Board of Publications and Broadcasting at/publisher. THE BULLET is printed in the off of the Free Lance Star.
Editorial and business offices are locate/ Anne Carter Lee Hall, Room 303, extension of Inquiries may be directed to PO Box 1115. lege Station, Fredericksburg, VA or to Editor.

From A Victim of Violence at a Keg Party

I would like to say a few words in defense of the Urban Security keg party squad who was unfairly libeled in a letter to the editor last week. Saturday night was a rowdy night by MWC standards (we will blame it

Urban Security stood firm in the path of bedlam.

I attended the keg party unusually late, so in my sobriety I could admire the band and the security force in action. Soon after my arrival, however. some creep began to maliciously and repeatedly pound his fists into my abdomen, and for no aparrent reason. Maybe I made eye contact with his date.

on a full moon), but the brave men of

But I felt safe. I knew while I was doubled over in agony clutching what I thought were bone fragments, the rent acops were courageously keeping windows shut to protect me from drafts and naughty persons. After I stumbled to the coat room, some of my friends recognized me but mistook my agony for inebriation. But remember, it was the punch, not the beer, that made me talk in jargon and see two worlds

My friends were graciously helping me outside (see personals), when I was stopped in the knick of time by another valiant man in blue who prevented me and my purple ribs from going through the wrong exit. Gad, what foresight! He probably prevented me from causing a massive jam-up where someone may sneak in, Shindigg forbid, by taking the quicker way home. I felt proud doing my part to insure party security by martyrously trudging through the crowds again to find an exit. It hurt so good.

I did make it to the hospital, got the royal treatment, and returned to rson Hall. Sunday afternoon I recalled the previous night's events with a codeine-soaked brain. Every breath sent a shock of pain through my ribs and reminded me of the gallant way the Urban Security myself may one day give my services to the Night Watch Association for keg parties so that I may know the elation of curbing delinquents from flicking light switches, opening windows, spilling beer and other ghastly deeds that plague this campus community.

Squad performed. I think that I

Painfully sincere, Todd James Horn P.S. If anyone attending the keg par-ty Saturday night witnessed this atrocity and can give a description or identity of the cretin who senselessly battered me, please call me or campus security. I want him.

e Reception

wing the lecture, a reception held in the Alumni House. among the punch and s, McCarthy discussed his residential campaigns and his le re-entry into Minnesota s. Though there is some plation that he might run for tor in Minnesota again after a year respite from public office, tor McCarthy did not anounce andidacy for State Senator the before coming to Mary hington College as some had ex-hn Kramer, associate professor olitical science here and faculty sor of the lecture, sent an invitato McCarthy after two of his ical science interns worked with Senator's daughter. After havinner with the Senator, Kramer ribed him as "very educated, religious and moral." Kramer d students would reconsider the otype that all politicians are ked cigar-smoking men by hear-a politician of McCarthy's caliber "He's basically an educator, that's an important reason for being here," Kramer said. eanwhile, Senator McCarthy in a corner surrounded by ters and students eager to hear t he had to say. He claimed that 'establishment'' hated most MCCARTHY, from page 1. what he was- "someone who was right but lost." He again stated his right but lost. He again stated his moderate support for President Reagan during the 1980 campaigns, which Kramer pointed out would put him into difficulties with his Democratic party back home in Min-nesota. When asked about his thoughts on Mary Washington, Mc-Carthy complained he hadn't yet seen it in the daytime.

The Past

Kramer's description of McCarthy as an "educator" was very true in McCarthy's early years. Born March 29, 1916, McCarthy attended St. John's University in Minnesota, and went on for his M.A. at the University of Minnesota. He taught Social Science from 1936 to 1940, and was a professor of economics and educa-tion at St. John's from 1940 to 1942.

In 1944, he became a civilian technical assistant in the Military Intelligence Division of the War Department. It is here that he developed a distaste for covert activities. It is this distaste which has led to his interest in investigating illegal CIA operations.

From 1946 to 1948, McCarthy taught at St. Thomas College in St. Paul and was active in politics. He was elected to the chair of the Democratic Farm-Labor Party of Ramsey County and attended the Democratic National Convention

Ad Hoc Proposes Party Policy Changes

by KATHY LYNN KEY

Several ad hoc committees have been formed in Senate since the beginning of this academic year. The committees were formed to tackle problems that are either too big for an already-existing committee handle or that do not fall under the jurisdiction of any of the regular committees. The problem of Mary Washington's party policy fits into both of these categories; hence, the birth of the Ad Hoc Party Policy Committee last fall.

The committee, chaired by Tara Corrigall, consisted of one senator from each residence hall. They met weekly last semester and worked on policy that the administration ould find suitable. Their goal was to change the policy that currently exists for the residence halls.

At the end of January when the committee had completed their pro-Anne Thompson, Senate resident, and Corrigall presented it to Gordon. She requested some time to think it over and discuss it with Dean Johnson. The four of them met for an hour and twenty minutes on Thursday morning, Feb. 4th, and discussed the proposed changes. The proposed party guidelines are as follow: A residential party may only be scheduled during the specified hours of visitation for each hall.

2. Group parties may not be scheduled for reading days or during

3. The Residence Director and/or one or more Resident Assistants must be in the hall for the duration of the party.

4. Admission to the party must be supervised by the members of the sponsoring group. During these private parties, a student may enjoy the privileges of visitation in his or her private room. To facilitate this, second sign-in must be established to register the guest for visitation.

5. All Mary Washington students and their guests must observe Virginia laws pertaining to the purchase and consumption of alcohol.

6. The group or organization sponsoring the party is responsible for expenses incurred. [Such expenses include refreshments, decorations and other costs.] The group is also responsible to the College for any damages incurred during the party.

7. No admission fee, collection at the door or donations at the party will be permitted.

8. Taking into consideration the . different dimensions of each residence hall area, a fire marshall or other official will establish capacity limity for the party area as a safety

9. Party areas will be determined by the Party Policy Ad Hoc Committee. These areas will be specified for each residence hall, taking into con-sideration the different floor plans and residence hall facilities.

10. One member of the Ad-Hoc Committee will serve as the official party counselor for the residence

11. Residents of the hall must be informed about the party and a vote must be taken showing that at least 80 percent of the hall is aware and in favor of the party.

Thompson, who has worked closely with the committee since it was formed, said that Goron and Johnson have already suggested a few minor revisions to the policy, but nothing has been decided upon yet.

"Anne and I felt very positive about the meeting. It went really well. We were able to back up anything that they anything that questioned,"stated Corrigall.

ask Force of 100 Tackles Those Tough Questions

WHITNEY HARGRAVE

e Dean's Advisory Board and Force of 100 have both been at ry Washington College as long as of Students Suzanne Gordonordon developed the Dean's Ad-ory Board when she arrived at VC in 1979. The Board is a group dunteers from the student body o hope to improve communication ween the students and the adnistration. The group meets with rdon twice a month unless a ecial meeting is called between the duled dates.

The Task Force of 100 is a group ich is randomly selected from the ident body. The selected students invited to serve as members of Force, a group which also helps mmunication between the lents and the administration.

One of the duties of the Advisory pard is to develop questions to ask e members of the Task Force. The sk Force meets once to discuss the estions with the presiding Adsory Board members and to give eir opinions, comments and suggestions on the issues at hand. They then meet again to hear responses from selected members of the ad-

As early as the first year the Force was broken down into committees, but these committees are also open to student involvement and member-ship. These committees dealt ex-clusively with the Health Center, Counseling Center, Student Activities and Residence Life.

This year the Task Force of 100 held its discussion meeting in the basement of Seacobeck on Wednesday, January 27. Many topics were brought up for discussion, among them freshman reaction to the past summer orientation, and what could have made their first week on campus more pleasant. In response to orientation most students felt it was very good, for it made them familiar with their new surroundings. However, there were a few complaints. Some students felt that they should not have to eat boxed lunches during orientation. Complaints also centered on the great deal of information freshman have to deal with and how to effectively distribute this information without overwhelming them. Many freshmen felt that there

The underclass students asked the upperclass students why students would transfer from MWC and if there is a need for better communication between the administration and the student body.

Many students answered the first

After the meeting a brief report was given by each of the groups. The students' general opinions about the Task Force was as long as some of the things get changed it was worth it. The students were not sure, however, their suggestions would be used. Dean Gordon responded to too many meetings and too much going on in such a short time question by pointing out the inade-quate social life, over-restrictive residence hall policy and lack of degree variety. In response to communication between students and administration, they agreed that improvements were needed, and suggested bulk mailing to students and an occasional open meeting with the students in Dodd Auditorium.

Summer Studytours to Europe Planned

Radford University is sponsoring two Studytours to Europe beginning June 19. College students can receive University credit in classes taught by the regular faculty of Radford University.

Studytour I goes to England and Scotland for 9 days. The Groups will leave from Baltimore and includes round trip air fare, all hotels, breakfast and dinner daily and land transportation. Dr. Rita Associate Professor of English, will travel and teach on this Studytour.

Studytour II goes to Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France and England for 23 days. The group will leave from Washington on June 19 and return July 11. The cost is $1620 from Washington and inround trip air fare, all hotels, breakfast and dinner daily and land transportation. Dr. Robert Gill, Assistant Professor of Political Science, and Dr. Fred L. Phlegar, Professor of Education, will travel and teach classes on this Studytour.

been taken seriously in the past. . . it should be taken seriously this year.

The general opinion of the Dean's ory Board on the meeting was favorable. Diana Burton was happy with "how well everyone opened up.
I thought there would be problems getting people to comment."

Some students did feel that many members of the student body simply don't care. Bill Coleman said, "I was disappointed to have such a small turnout, but the ones that didn't show up were the ones that didn't snow up were the ones that duth recare." Jeff Bowen was another Board member who was pleased with the meeting. He felt that "the students are interested in following these things up."

Force and the Advisory Board, as as administration and staff members, will receive a composite list of the responses from all of the ast of the responses from an of the groups. One of the concerns of the Advisory Board was expressed by Rose Marie Finney: "I'm just concerned with having it get out to the rest of the student body." To remediate the student body." To remediate the student of th remedy that situation, copies of the list will be available for public reading in the Reserve Room of the library, the Day Students' Lounge, and the front desks of each residence hall by February 15.

Each of the members of the Task

The Task Force will meet again to receive responses from administra-tion and staff about the compiled

Mortar Board: Past and Future

by BARBARA ECKLER

Many people still don't know what Mortar Board is. To settle it once and for all, Mortar Board is an honorary organization that recognizes students with outstan-ding scholarship, leadership, and service qualities.

The Mortar Board started at Mary Washington College as a group not officially affiliated with Mortar Board National. It was an honor society exclusively for senior girls.

MWC's Mortar Board is now a coeducational organization.

Mortar Board was first called the Cap and Gown Society. Mary Kelly, presently the director of the Counseling Center and a graduate of MWC, was the society's first president. The Cap and Gown Society was founded in the school year 1943-44. In 1959, it became affiliated with Mortar Board National. It is still know as the Cap and Gown Chapter of Mortar Board National.

Mortar Board presently has 184 active chapters across the country. The national organization is divided into various geographic sections.

MWC is included in Section No. 4, which also includes Virginia Tech, William and Mary, James Madison, Wake Forest and Westhampton. Terri Torri, elections chairperson for Mortar Board this year, has been working since the end of last semester on eligibility lists. The chapter has just distributed among the junior class and faculty a list of these students. The students and faculty were asked to circle the names of the students they believed deserved membership.

A reception was held for all eligible juniors last Thursday. At that time, they were given activity sheets tolist their accomplishments and to com-ment on why they thought they should be a member of Mortar Mortar Board will hold a meeting where they will elect the new members. The roster of new members will be sent to the national for approval. Tapping will take place during junior ring presentation, March 25, in Dodd Auditorium. The new members will not know of their membership until they are tapped.

According to Anne-Marrie Cozzi, president of Mortar Board, the three main criteria for membership are leadership, scholarship and service to the school and community. Eligible students must also have a 3.0 or above grade point average. Students are eligible for Mortar Board during their junior year only.

In addition to being an honor society, Mortar Board engages in a variety of activities. Each year they compile a calender for general sale This year, they had a very successful canned food drive at Thanksgiving. At Christmas they made it possible for a number of children from the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program to attend a play.

Waugh's Wisdom:

by JESSICA WAUGH
I have always liked winter. You know-the smell of wood smoke, the driveway that looks like a member of the Swiss Alps, no school. Yes, those were the days. Now, I'm a few years and snow shovels older. I must have been temporarily insane as a child to have enjoyed all of this. nave enjoyed all of this. Fredericksburg only serves to rein-force my "ice fright." Many of us have speculated as to the nature of hell. Wonder no more, my friends. The underworld is not a fiery inferno; it is a side street of downtown Fredericksburg. Each day is a new adventure in coordination as I glide to campus. This Dorothy Hamill routine is growing old, folks. I'm tired of strapping kitchen knives to my shoes in order to skate to class. There is a new invention sweeping the country called the "snow plough." Perhaps we should all chip in and buy one for our quaint hamlet. Legend has it that we do have one such machine. Where is itin hibernation? Is human sacrifice necessary for its operation?

Dithyramb

A Vote To Rescind Winter

The college itself is just as bad. Mary Washington's answer to everything: throw dirt on it. I have never seen so much mud in my life Once in a while, I'll glimpse rock salt, but the work crew must scatter one grain per day. Pedestrians and drivers play chicken since the sidewalks are so treacherous those on foot take to the middle of the Speaking of driving-don't. My roomate and I drove to Spotsylvania Mall the other day and literally ran over a median in the parking lot.

Why? We didn't see it. It was buried under four inches of ice like the rest of the earth in a two mile radius. We assume it was a median. It might have been a body for all we might have been a body for all we know. The only positive aspect of this mess is that I no longer fear parallel parking. It is impossible to park close to the curb when you can't find it.

Despite the aforementioned inconveniences, he worst aspect of winter has yet to be named. Winter has an annoying tendency to be cold.

I like the color blue, but not on my fingernails. Most of th time my teeth sound like morracas in a Calypso band. As a new exercise in dexterity, try taking notes with gloves on. If I remove them, my fingers are liable to break off and shatter like glass on the floor (now you know where that tinkling sound in Monroe Hall is coming from).

My apartment is chilly also. Did I say chilly? We can successfully store frozen pizza in the corners of the living room. The windows ice overthe inside. I can see my breath in the shower. I'm considering the pur-chase of an extension cord so I can carry my electric blanket from room to room with me. I've taken up cooking so I can have an excuse to turn on the oven and warm my hands. So help me, if I see one more pair of long underwear I'll break out in hives.

Although this article is grim, urge everyone to take heart. April is just around the bend. Perhaps then we'll see green trees, baby birds, and ground. Until Spring, we must con-tent ourselves to hypothesizing the existence of Fredericksburg. asphalt

Stanton Awards Writing Fellowship

Maura Stanton, MWC Matra Stanton, MWC Distinguished Writer Residence, has been awarded creative writing fellowship the National Endowment of the Stanton is one of 204 re ients from some 2,600 licants.

Fellowships for the creat writer are awarded to "publis ed writers of exceptional tale to enable them to set aside tim for writing, research or travel the announcement of the awa

A panel of 20 distinguish writers made the recommen

tions for the awards.

The fellowship is the secon for Stanton from the Nation

M*A*S*H: To Be or Not to Be

by BOB BAILEY

At a time when everyone seem be aiming at network television all of its faults, one program endu has been on CBS for ten seas now, and is in countless reruns. However, as Twentith Cent Fox--who films M*A*S*H--and begin negotiations for an eleve season, there seems to be some unhappy people. The network ecutives? The Fox executives? the performers themselves do want another season of the show Alan Alda and company are m concerned with the show's qual than with the money from anot season. These actors feel they h not been offered scripts of quality for next season.

I find this very refreshing. I havatched M*A*S*H for most of ten years and have always enjo However, I agree with the ac who would rather go out with very good, (if not great), season than end it with a bad year or to done just for the money.

At this time, no decision has been reached, but at least these formers care more for their protthan for their bank accounts.

Mr. Stockman, It'll Never Work

by DARYL LEASE

I realize it's considered tacky and icky gross these days for anyone with money to rally around those without, but I feel I'd better have my say real quick like. Since my daddy don't know George Bush or anybody that dresses like him and I ain't studying law, I know I'll be joining the ranks of the not-well-todo someday. In that regard, this rambling is also purely selfish. I don't deny.

If you'll recall, all hell broke loose before Thanksgiving in Ronnie's home on the range when one of the stable hands started shooting off his about the horses and this here trickle down theory. Frankly, I don't know a helluva lot about supply-side economics, and it's one of those things I'd prefer to remain ignorant about. Sort of like the bad news about Santa Claus, you understand. Christ only knows what other lies Economics aside, I really hated to see this guy David Stockman get-ting strung up for thinking in public. So I gave him a call one night, and he agreed to meet me the next day if we could talk at a place where no one important would overhear.

I met him the next day at GW Hall, and I was immediately stunn-ed. His hair damn near reached his collar, and he used real verbs. Not once did he mention a Better America or call me son. In short, he didn't appear to be a Republican.

That's because old Davey isn't a Republican. He talked to me quite candidly-off the record of coursebout Uncle Ronnie and his New Federalism. Stockman's a crafty guy, I learned. From his sketchy we know he was a bit of a radical in the '60's, taking a missionary position on Wall Street, or something like that, to escape Vietnam. Eventually, he was transformed into a clean-cut Republican with vision. Or so it seemed. He began to spew forth numbers and to speak of a Better America. Reagan's brain trust tapped him to serve in the pre-sent administration and the rest reads like a Grade B movie. Rad to Actually, Stockman rates Reagonomics up there with the Watergate burglaries and Liz marrying John Warner as the all-time great political schemes. He wantsit to fail. Stockman is of the school of philosophy, you see, that a good idea has to be beaten into people's heads before they wake up and say, "Hey, that's a good idea. Glad I thought of it." In order to get people to believe, you've got to show them hell and eaven and hell one more time, just in case they forgot the first trip. So, Stockman's pretending not to give a damn about the poor and the elderly in order to show us how good the original, liberal programs were.

He's planning to destroy the New Right from within, while they're ser-ving cocktails and comparing pedigrees. The people, he hopes, will eventually see what's goning on and welcome back liberalism. Then they'll name parks after George iboduc min McGovern and open James Watt for off-shore drilling.

Well, David, I really hate to do it to you, but somebody's got to tell you before it's too late: It'll never work. It didn't work for Jerrry Rubin or Abbie Hoffman or even sad Spiro Agnew. You radical types can't work within the system. Either somebody finds you out or you become one of the wretched people you used to chant against. You were betteroff not taking baths and writing protest songs.

You see, while you work within the system, you'll be freezing some sweet old ladies with hearing aids and poor little kids who'll never believe that damn Santa Claus story. You'll drive caring, constructive kids who would otherwise go to college into the military, where they'll learn how to use swords and not words. Sweet Jesus, where's John Phillips gonna get his drug therapy? Will Bob Dylan be singing to an empty church because everyone's in the breadline? Will everyone sell out in the name of the almighty dollar?

I'm sory, David, but your Trojan's got a hole in it. Look at what you've

College Graduates

BECOME A LAWYER'S ASSISTANT.

- Program approved by American Bar Association.
- Day or Evening classes available.
- · Employment assistance.

SPRING EVE

Mar. 16 - Sept. 18

A Representative from The National Center for Paralegal A Hepresentative from The National Center for Paralegal Training's Lawyer's Assistant Program will be on campus on Monday, Feb. 22, from 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. at the Placement Office to meet interested students, For more information contact the Placement Office or The National Center for Paralegal Training, 3376 Peachtree Road, NE, Suite 430, Atlanta, Georgia 30326, (404) 266-1060.

Please send assistant.	d me infor	mation abou	t a career	as a	lawyer's

College Yr. Grad. 1982 SPRING DAY ☐ SUMMER DAY FALL DAY June 10 - Sept. 7 Sept. 16 - Dec. 21 Feb. 8 - May 7

THE NATIONAL CENTER FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING

3376 Peachtree Rd., NE Atlanta, Ga. 30326 404/266-1060

☐ FALL EVE Oct. 19 - May 7

ANOUNCEMENTSANNOUNCEMENTSANNOUNCE Black Culture Week, Circle K week is February 7-13. On Circle K week is February 7-13. On Wednesday, February 10, the regular meeting will be a Spaghetti Dinner from 5-7 pm in Custis Basement. On Thursday, February 11, they will sell caramel apples in the residence halls from 7-10 pm. On Friday, they will visit a detention home.

Circle K will sell Valentine Carnations at every lunch and dinner in the Seacobeck Dome Room until lunch on Wednesday, February 10.

Circle K will sponsor a wheelchair marathon for Cerebral Palsy in Spotsylvania Mall Saturday, February 20 from 10 am to 9 pm. Everyone is welcome to ride, sponsor a wheelchair rider, or make donations. Call Beth Padgett at x4450.

Join Circle K! The membership drive is in full swing. Plans for second semester include wheelchair marathon (February 20) and hosting the Capital District Convention (March 12-14).

Circle K Scrapbook Committee will meet every Thursday at 6 pm in Jefferson Hall, 4th West. Circle K wheelchair marathon committee will, meet Monday, February 15 at 6 pm in the Mason Hall front parlor.

February 7-14

MWC will observe Black Culture Week from February 7-14 with music, exhibits and lectures.

Activities begin Sunday at 3 pm with a gospel concert in Dodo in Dodd Auditorium, George Washington Hall, featuring the Morgan State University Gospel Choir from Baltimore

A black history and culture exhibit compiled by Carlton A. Funn will be on display Monday and Tuesday in the ballroom of Lee Hall. Funn, a former public school teacher, director of cultural education p grams for the Management Advisory Group, Inc. in Alexandria.

The program February 10 will be an 8:30 pm comedy show featuring Andrew Evans in the campus Pub

On Thursday, February 11 at 8:30 pm Fredericksburg public school teacher Gaye T. Adegabalola will present a blues concert in the Pub.

present a buse concert in the Pub.
A concert is scheduled Friday,
February 12 at 8 pm in Dodd Audotorium. A semi-formal dance featuring WMWC disc jockey Paul Butler will be held February 13 at 8 pm in the ballroom of Lee Hall. Admission is 4$ per couple. A movie, "Bustin' Loose," featuring Richard

Pryor, will be shown Sund February 14 at 8 pm in Do Auditorium.

Sallie F. Washington, assisted is coordinating the week's event

Campus Safety Month
The Campus Safety Committee sponsoring two more safety p grams this month. We invite you attend the upcoming events show your concern for campus s ty. Feb. 16

Movie, "Rape, Victim Victor" 6:00 in Seacobeck Basement.

Come meet the Escort Service Come hear about the Neighborhood Watch.

Feb. 24 Speaker, The State F Marshall 7:00 in the Ballroom

Kitchen Safety Smoke Detectors Fire Extinguishers

Make Sure You Post These Dates Your Calendars!!

The Bullet has positions open production workers. Anyone famili with typesetting and layout or anyowilling to learn call Shannon x4520
Jackie x4413

ANGES, from page 1

cent rule, the 15 percent is too "I don't know how they'll en 15 percent when the don't en-

25 percent. students feel they ost students feel they are decisions regarding attendance. or Liz McClennan pointed out, or Liz McCiennan pointed out, student ought to be mature igh to go to class. What's the tin forcing them." Sophomore e Colligan added, "By the time get to college, people should be spikle enough to attend of the college. get to college, people should be onsible enough to attend class tout being forced." Another tomore, Dana Alley said, "It has to me that the absence pro-n takes care of itself. Those who a lot of classes and can't handle affer from low GPA's and eveny dissappear. Those who miss maintain a respectable GPA 't need reprimand.

cording to junior Marsha da. Things that are deemed xecused ought to be execused,

The second proposal that has stirred discussion concerns academic emotional problems." Senior Kathy Anitole added, "What is an exred discussion cusable absence? The question was Academic Affairs open meeting and they kept beating around the bush."

The committee has since ammended the proposal to allow-in unusual and extreme cases- a student to appeal absences to the course insturc tor, who then must consult with the Academic Dean. The final decision on the appeal will be make by the Dean. Senior Cindy Nash pointed out, "The Dean is going to have a lot of extra work to do."

On the positive side, junior Scott Harris commented, "I'm in favor of the proposals. I think it provides able direction to studnets just beginning their academic career. Sophomore Kay Bradshaw also favored the changes, "I agree that it should be stricter and I hope the professors will comply in enforcing the probation suspension. According to the proposal, a student must raise cumulative GPA to a certain point semester by semester, according to the number of credit hours ed. Failure to raise the GPA will result in probation or suspension. Ann Colligan said, "Maybe they should look into admission standards. Maybe they are admitting students that they shouldn't." Pier-point added, "A lot of pesople will do badly to begin with. I just don't know if that's going to work.'

Sophomore Dana Thomas felt, "the academic probation proposal will of the attendance take care

The faculty will debate and vote on the proposals at the March 3 faculty meeting. Copies of the proposals are on reserve in Trinkle Library. An open meeting for faculty mesmbers will be held February 12.

Students who student teach or who have internships and will not be here on the day of the preliminaries will not be able to vote. However, for the first time ever, provisions have Transfer: "Happy Wherever . . .

by WHITNEY HARGRAVE

Most students who transfer from one school to another do so because they are unhappy. For Michael illace, that was not the case.

Squillace, that was not the case.
"I could be happy anywhere...I make myself happy," commented make myself happy," commented Squillace. His switch from Campbell University in Buiè's Creek, N.C. to MWC was not a matter of happiness but a matter of academics. happy there, but it didn't have exactly what I wanted. There's a lot more emphasis on academics here, more emphasis on academics here, instead of sports. That's what I'm here for," said Squillace.

He was looking for another school and found MWC's catalogue at his other college. He chose MWC because he wanted "a small school with a better curriculum.

Campbell University is a Baptistaffiliated institution and according to Squillace, conditions are very strict. Squillace commented, "There's more freedom here. I like although I don't exercise it much. It's a good feeling.

Squillace was excited about com-ing to MWC and said he still has a od feeling about the school. He failed to attend the orientation for transfer students, but has learned a lot of things about the school from his roommate, and from his girlfriend, Pamela, who also attends MWC. Both of them had attended MWC. Both of them had attended Campbell previously. Because Squillace enjoys studying and distance running, he is very impressed with Trinkle Library and the exercise equipment in Goolrick. He added. "I like to exercise alot and it's nice to have the facilities if I want to them

After his first weekend as a new

Michael Squillace

student, Squillace was hit by the amount of partying, drinking, and noise, but he says, "I can live with

Of the campus and services at MWC, Squillace commented, dorms and buildings are beautiful, and Seacobeck's food is good.

So for the guy who can be happy anywhere, Squillace added with a note of confidence, "Yes, I'm going to like it here.

"The Good Doctor," a comedy by Neil Simon, will be presented by the Mary Washington College Department of Dramatic Arts and Dance, Wednesday, February 24 through Saturday, February 27 at 8:15 pm, and Sunday at 2:15 in Klein Memorial Theatre.

Sunday at 2:15 in Kieln Memorial Theatre.

Directed by Roger Kenvin, the show is a series of Chekov's early comic short stories adapted by Mr. Simon into a charming series of theatrical sketches.Michael Joyce is featured as the narrator, along with a cast of MWC students; Carol Armstrong, Ricahrd Bona, Kaia Campbell, Patrick Collins, Anthony Curtis, Gail Gustafson, Monica Peterschmidt, Seth Schrager, Kathleen Walker.

Schrager, Nathied Walker.
Tickets are $2.00 for general public, $1.00 for non-Mary Washington students, and free of charge for all MWC students, faculty and staff. For ticket reservations call 899-4330 starting February 17. All tickets must be

tudent Election Schedule Outlined

by KATHY LYNN KEY

ny student interested in running position on the Student ciation Executive Cabinet or Honor Council President has just weeks to prepare his or her camgn. Workshops for all interested dents will be held on Wednesday bruary 10 and Thursday, February at 6 p.m. in ACL, Lounge A.

Nominations for these offices are heduled for Monday, February 15 6 p.m. in ACL, Lounge B. The zz Session follows two nights er on Wednesday, February 17 at 0 p.m. in Combs 100. All students encouraged to attend the Buzz ion and the speeches to be given the candidates for SA President d Honor Council President on the 18th at 6 p.m. in onroe 104

The Buzz Session is an informal estion and answer period. Every ndidate for every office will be ere and will be asked questions by e present Executive Cabinet and the leaders of various organiza-ns on campus. The floor will then opened up to students sitting in e audience so that they may ask y questions that the have. SA Senate Rules and Procedures

REWARD!

200 TEACHERS WANTED FOR 1982-83
For details inquire at your Placement Office or write
NCE GEORGE'S COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOLS
Upper Mariboto, Mb. 20772 Bordering Washington, D.C.
Salary Range (1981-82) $13,215 — $22,337

JOKERS WILD MOTORCYCLE DELICATESSEN OLD FORSE PLAZA RT.17 È 195 BIKENS CAPS · WALLETS · SADDLE BAGS-VESTS. CHAPS . BELTS . BUCKLES JEWELRY . JACKETS . DECALS . PATCHES . T-SHIRTS - INDIA PRINT YRAP AROUND DRESSES EMBROIDERED KURTAS FHE DON'T HAVE IT YOU DON'T NEED IT!

Committee Chairperson Jeannie Pugh, announced they are trying something new this year to improve student awarness. In addition to the Buzz Session and the speeches, the candidates will be coming to every residence hall and small house to give speeches and talk informally with the residents. The schedule must be arranged with the Associa-tion of Residence Halls, so the dates and times of the candidates will be in the different residence halls can be announced. Pugh explained, it is imperative for students to attend one of these meeting to allow them an educated and responsible vote at the elections.

Preliminary voting, designed to narrow the number of candidates for a single office two, provided there are more than two candidates seeking that office, will take place on Monday, February 22 in the Dome Room of Seacobeck. The results will be announced that night at 10 p.m. in Lounge A.

been made for these students to vote been made for these students to vote in the actual elections on Wednesday, February 24. On Tuesday, February 23, the day after preliminaries, ballots will be distributed to these students' rooms and it is their responsibility to return the ballot to Jeannie Pugh in Westmoreland 314 by 9 a.m. on Wednesday the 24th, or to have a friend bring the ballot to the polls when he or she comes to vote, These

In addition to the SA and Honor Council offices, students will be voting on some proposed revisions SA Constitution presented by Dan Steen pertaining to the office of A SA Whip which he currently holds. The SA Executive Cabinet approved the revisions which then went to the Senate where they were approved February 2.

ballots must be pledged.

J.D. HAIR, LTD. 914 Carolina 373-8877 Daily 9-5 Mon. & Thur. Till 9 Closed Tuesdays

VAL-EN-TINE, According to Mr. Webster's Book of Words is a reetheart chosen or complimented on St. Valentine's Day. J.D. Hair, Ltd. has a great idea for complimenting your chosen Sweetheart, a new look for the Day of Hearts. We can't think of a greater way to compliment the one you love than giving him or her something new to look at. After all, candy is fattening and bad for your teeth, and flowers only last a few days and they're withered, so why not give the gift of lasting beauty. That's right you can come in and let us create a new look for you and Whether it's a creative cut, a permanent long-lasting wave, a change of color, a frosting or highlighting, or even a manicure, J.D. Hair, Ltd. can change the way your sweetheart looks, maybe even how they feel about you. We're not making any promises of eternal love and affection, but we do promise to create a look of beauty for you that will change the way you feel about yourself every time you look into the mirror.

Through February 14, J.D. Hair, Ltd. is offering a his and her Valentines Special. When 2 sweethearts, (male & female) come in and make an appointment with Vickie for a shampoo, cut and style dry, you pay $11.50 for the first new look and your sweetheart's new look costs only $5.75. Two new looks for only $17.25. When has beauty ever been so inexpensive?

We also carry a complete line of REDKEN and Paul Mitchell hair care products so you can help keep that beautiful looking head of hair between visits to J.D. Hair, Ltd.

Happy Valentines Day to all our Heads of Hair. Wouldn't it be great if every day could be filled with love? Remember, your hair needs love Lovingly yours, J&D

"CREATIVE HAIR BY PEOPLE WHO CARE"

MWC Students Only

2018 College Avenue

Loungé serving redericksburg, Virginia 23401 Carry Out 371-4675 mixed drinks 4-12

Feb. 20

Poet Gallagher Well Received

by SUSAN SNEARER

Poet Tess Gallagher read a collection of her poems to students and faculty in ACL Ballroom last Tuesday evening, February 2.

Gallagher is the author of "Under Stars" and "Instructions to the Double" and is a columnist for American Poetry Review. She is currently working on a collection of short stories entitled "Other

Gallagher opened her presentation with the poem "Unanswered Letter," and continued with "Stopping Place,"a poem she had written for her students at Syracuse Unvierwhere teaches she undergraduate poetry seminars.

Gallagher read several poems on request, including "Horse in the Drugstore," one of her early poems written for an assignment while still in school, and several poems from "Under Stars."

Gallagher taught for a year in Tuscon, where she met Maura Stanton, MWC's current writer-in-residence. She acknowledged Stan-ton by reading "Some with Wings, Some with Manes," a poem she said Stanton had liked.

The relatively large audience that turned out despite the wet weather left pleased with Gallagher's direct manner and lively reading.

Senate Thanks College Workers

by WHITNEY HARGRAVE Immediately before first semester exams, on December 10, 1981, the Senate held a social for the employees of the Mary Washington College Physical Plant.

Every year the Special Projects Committee of the Senate has a social for the administration and Senate, but last year they decided to do something different. The committee, chaired by John Cherry, sent invitations to every employee of the Physical Plant- maintenance. groundskeepers and custodians in residence and academic halls.

Fifty employees answered the RSVP saying they would come. Many brought their spouses or dates. Unfortunately, because of the time of year, exams kept many students away, so guests out-

This statement is being issued by the Campus Judicial Court in response to unfortunate situations which have occurred recently:

Each student at Mary Washington College has certain rights, one of these is the right to privacy. The Campus is reminded that all information related to judicial proceedings (names, facts, etc.) is confidential, not to be discussed outside of the courtroom. It is vital that each student protect numbered the Senators who attend. But, according to the Senators who did attend, everyone had a good

Senate committee was responsible for furnishing some type of refreshment, which included cheese, crackers, cookies, chips, dip, vegetables, mints and cake. Add to these Christmas music and decorations and the stage was set for a fine Christmas party which was a "roar-ing success," according to one

When asked if there would be other such socials in the future, Stu-Association Vice-President Anne Thompson said, "Hopefully it will become an annual event, but that's up to the future vice-presidents to decide."

THE BULLET regrets its omission of staff writer Barbara Eckler's name in the February 2 story "Committee Offers Changes in Academic Regulations." The story was entirely her work and could not have ap-peared without her hard work and dedication. Again, we apologize.

these rights. THE GENERAL STORE LOUNGE Tuesday, February 16 1/2 PRICE · Mesen de on all drinks!!! with MWC student ID 2018 College Avenue Open 4 'till.

Black Culture Week Develops at MWC

as Woodson had been in the 1920's.

by ANNE SAVOCA With Black Culture Week upon us, it is interesting to recall the developments that led to its origin developments that led to its origin here at MWC. Although a National observance of black history and culture was initiated by Carter G. Woodson, and dates back to 1926, the celebration did not begin here at MWC until February 1971. The first black student was enrolled at the school in 1963 and the Afro-American Association, which spon-sors Black Culture Week, was sors Black Culture Week, was established in 1970. One of the initial projects that the Association undertook was to plan a week that would emphasize black history and The Association was encouraged and supported in their efforts by professors and administrators alike

The week of February 7-14 was chosen so that it would include the birthdays of both Abraham Lincoln and Frederick Douglass.

According the Sallie Washington, assistant dean of admissions and financial aid and coordinator of the week's events, "the early years of Black Culture Week were strong years." Washington believes that years." Washington believes that 1975 and 1976 were "shaky years for the week of black celebration," but by 1977 it had picked up. Washington emphasized that since 1977 Black Culture Week has gotten progressively stronger because more attention has been given to it.

Jeff Curley, president of the Afn American Association, sees Blad Culture Week as a time for "bas evaluation of black history and pe ple," and their acheivements

Curley also noted that later th month other activities have been planned in accordance with the month-long Black celebration.

This week a number of activities and events are already underway Gospel concert in Dodd Auditorius an exhibit, a comedy show and Blues Concert in the "Pub" and Blues Concert in the "Pub" and, semi-formal dance which is planned for Saturday evening. To finish of the week "Bustin Loose", a film written by and starring Richard Pryor, will be shown in Dodd Audditon. Pryor, will b on Sunday

MWC Superdance 28 Hours of Exhausting Fun

by KERRY FISHER

Imagine 28 straight hours physical exertion! Not an appetizing thought, is it? Well, there were 32 people last weekend who felt the need to dance for 28 hours.

The Superdance for Muscular Dystrophy started Friday the 29th at 6 p.m., when the dancers registered, to Saturday night at 12 a.m. when the second keg party end-

Out of 105 signed up to dance, only 32 showed up and evidently, there was no problem keeping the dancers going. Co-chairman Lillian Lacey going. Co-chairman Lillian Lacey said, "You rarely have a problem keeping people dancing at a Super-Everyone was full of When asked about the energy." response of the people at the parites, she explained, "There was quite a she explained, "Inere was quite a crowd not in the Superdance, and they were very responsive." The only complaint the dancers had about outsiders was that they didn't come to visit enough during the day (Saturday) to give their support.

And some commendations are now in order: For raising the most money, we have Karl Kratzer. His pledges totalled $360. The poster child, Paul Duke, has a little sister named Katie who danced 10 hours and raised $122 through her efforts. The grand total comes to $5600, which is $1000 over last year's

A show of appreciation should go out to all the dancers for their donation of time and energy in this endeavor. All said the Superdance was fun, and most followed this up by explaining that when it ended they would take a shower and go to sleep for a few days. They also said the different hours, such as punk and pajama hours, were fun. had several contests to break the monotony also, one such was the hairy-legs contest.

The two bands picked out for Fn day and Saturday nights were ven highly acclaimed by students. The Red Ball Jets expressed their appreciation in the energy of the dancers and everyone else at Frida might's party. As one band members aid, "We usually have to make people get up and dance, but everyone seemed to be really in the spirit and the second seemed to be really in the spirit and the second seemed to be really in the spirit and the second seemed to be really in the spirit and the second seemed to be really in the spirit and the second seemed to be really in the second seemed to be really in the spirit and the second seemed to be really in the second second seemed to be really in the second second responded very well on their own."

As for criticisms, there were very Some said the amount bein pledged wasn't changed enough of the "total" board. Some felt the workers seemed to have lost en thusiasm. But the overall program turned out to be a success, and mos of the dancers felt better for having done it. As Jenny Stone puts it: did it because a year ago when they had the dance-a-thon, I went to the Saturday kegger for the band and the beer. I got there and felt emba rassed because there was this little boy in a wheelchair and all I could do was drink beer. I felt dancing this year was the least I could do."

Personals _

Terry, camels in the motor pool? Nice

Gordo, if its not a one-eyed-cyclops its 185 pounds of screaming meathave a happy birthday!

Pope John Stud--Get outta here you

James, Going schlanking this weekend? "Joe, go to sleep."

Joey, appreciate those well-worn ears-- Love you man,don't ever change!

Rib-punchers beware! You KNOW we're going to get you!

S.E. Have a nice Valentines Day! C.L.

Blue Tide

KIKI, He's no figment, he's Cornell's #1 SEX-GOD.

H.B., Drive on sidewalks much? Harold

Paul Butler, "My Heart's on Fire, Paul Butler..."

Dean, Turn off your rainy-day outfit.

Where the * are my swiss cheese crackers?

Scott Fowler, you hunk of man!

J & J, "You make me hot!!"

Conrad, Congratulations on your engagement.!?

Want To See A Better Bullet?

WE OF THE BULLET apologize for appearing late this week. Believe or not, there were problems beyond our control...'

You can help- THE BULLET is looking for enthusiastic people is help in our production department We will teach you how to typese and do layout. If you want to learn improve the quality of your campu periodical and meet very interesting people, come to ACL 303 Monday nights at 6:30, Thursday nights at 6:00 or come to the Campus Critique Wednesday nights at 6:00 Remember, you can make a dif-ference. We also have positions for writers -- so we hope to see you soon

Gina Hilleary

Women's Basketball Wins; Devours Opponents, 116-12

by DAVID LYNCH

It was all over early in the first ilf as the women's basketball team ft Virginia Intermont College in a oud of dust and never looked back, mihilating the visiters 116-12, ebruary 6. The 116 points set a team record most points scored, and the 04-point margin also set a record Jenny Utz, the only senior on this par's team, scored MWC's 100th oint. High scorers for the Tide were athy McCaughey with 21 points, and Amy Howe with 18. The whole am played, and everyone scored. WC had 52 field goals, 73 re-ounds, and 27 steals. Virginia Inmont had 44 turnovers and shot 7 percent from the field.

The victory raised the Tide's scord to 11-3 and dropped Virginia

Intermont's to 1-8.

MWC takes on Averett College
Wednesday, February 10, in Wednesday, Goolrick Hall.

MWC 62 Virginia Wesleyan 55

Eight second half points by both MWC forwards, Trish Long and Melanie Taylor, helped the Blue Tide pull away from a 32-31 halftime disadvantage to overcome the Blue Marline February 3.

MWC roared off from the opening tap to take a 14-4 lead with 14:22 to play in the first half on Jennifer Benplay in the instribution of the instribution o hit an 18-footer to put VMC within one, 31-30, with nine seconds left. Four seconds later, Karen Sutherlin hit a lay-up to give Virginia Wesleyan its lead at halftime. It was all Blue Tide basketball in the second half as MWC's front line, Long, Taylor and center Kim Poindexter, who was substituting for injured Ruth Bonner, began to show their dominance. Blue Marlin center Sabrina Moody, who scored 12 of her game-high 20 points in the second half, could not control the Blue Tide surge, which saw her VWC team trail by as much as ten points.

High scorers for the Tide were Taylor who had 14 points and Poindexter with 11. Joanne Ciccone contributed nine points and six assists. Defensively, Long pulled down 16 rebounds and Poindexter added nine.

The only other Blue Marlins player besides Moody to reach double figures was Riley, who had 10.

Sophomore Kim Poindexter(40) shoots over her Virginia Intermont op ponents as MWC won, 116-12. photo by Martha Howard

Butler Hits Winning Shot On Buzzer

by DAVE WARREN

by DAVE WARREN
Sophomore Paul Buther got his urn at being a hero as he hit a 30 oot jump shot at the buzzer to give he men's basketball team a 70-68
rictory over North Carolina
Wesleyan College, February 7.
The Blue Tide led for most of the game, but it went down to the wire with MWC taking the ball in-bounds with four seconds left, and the game tied. The ball was moved down court and passed to Butler with two seconds left. Butler took a few steps and shot, and as the buzzer sounded, the ball swished through the net.

reshman Tony Farris was high scorer for the Tide with 15 points. Sophomore Frank Gilmore and senior Robert Watts each con-tributed 10. Everyone on the roster played and 13 of 14 players scored.

Freshman Terry Wright and senior Paul Hess lead the Bishops in scoring with 22 and 20 points, respectively.

The Tide lead the Bishops in rebounding, 48-33, but shot only 39 percent from the field.

MWC goes against Catholic University Thursday, February 11, in Goolrick Hall.

Add Spirit To Cheerleading Squad Reappears

by MARY JANE EVANS

When your school's teams are wining, the fans are cheering. To meet hing, the fans are cheering. To income the needs of both the players and the fans, Mary Washington College once ans, Mary Wasnington Conego ince again has a cheerlaading squad: The squad was reestablished on a suggestion by Sally Washington, a Dean of Admissions, after several in-quiries about cheerleading were made by prospective students. After a brief general meeting in early October, at which over 50 students attended, there was a two month lapse before tryouts were held and consequently interest dwindled. When tryouts were finally held in early December, only 15 students attended. They were judged on a series of three routines and nine were chosen. Sophomores Dean Driver, Chris Uthe and Denese Zawadzki, and freshmen Kathy Lawson, Debbie Barrett, Kathy O'Rourker Lisa Casey, Heidi Heinbaugh and captain Lisa Broadbridge made the squad.

Of the nine, only six have cheering experience. O'Rourke and Broadbridge are both National Cheerleading champions.

The squad had five days in which the squad had five days in which the squad had five days in which the squad had seen the squad ha to prepare for its first game in January, but it seemed like they had months to practice as they went through their routines with few problems. Uthe attributes their fine performances to Broadbridge, whom he says is the one who has made them work as a team.

"Before we were just individuals cheering, now we're a squad. A squad is what the school needed," said Uthe.

The students as well as the players seem to be pleased with the cheerleaders' efforts. According to cheerleaders erforts. According to several of the cheerleaders, reactions have been very favorable from both groups. According to Broadbridge, the players especially appreciate the cheerleaders when there is a low crowd attendance.

At present the squad is temporary, but they hope to become a permanent fixture in the athletic department, which has been financing their efforts. Future plans include another set of tryouts, one at the end of this semester and one in the fall. The fall tryouts will be for incoming freshmen.

The squad is currently cheering at both men's and women's games with 8 Beers on draught

"ree nights a week. According to one cheerlea they hope to build up the squad so they won't be as pressured to thave the same cheerleaders attend all the events.

Currently the members of the squad are pleased with their work. Their goal, according to Uthe, is to increase audience participation. "If we can combine the cheerleaders and the fans as a single unit, it would be great. Our teams would continue to 923 Caroline Street 371-6272

CHI BETA PHI AUCTION February 16, 1982

7:00 - 10:00 PM

in ACL Ballroom

Plane Ride For 2

Dinner Parties

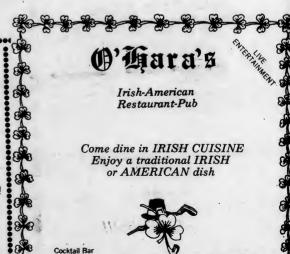

Crafts

Food

Much, Much More!

Come bid on items donated by MWC Faculty and Administrators while raising funds for scholarships!

All money will go to the following scholarship funds: Regional Scholars, Martin Luther King, and the Phi Beta Chi.

Lehman Follows Sister's Act

by TERRY BONNER

Sports Inormation Director

Every coach loves to brag about his prize recruit, the star athlete he lured away from other drooling coaches. But in Sue Lehman's case, her MWC basketball coach, Connie Gallahan said, "I didn't even write to her." Good enough to nearly win an athletic scholarship at Syracuse University, Sue was her sister Terry's prize recruit.

"Yes," Terry Lehman smiled, "I had a little bit to do with bringing her here." Terry, a junior member of the Blue Tide swim team, continued, 'I like the atmosphere and I thought she could come here and get to

And play she does. The 5-2 guard is also a high scoring forward line player in field hockey. Entering the basketball court after her MWC field hockey team finished third in both Virginia and the five state Region 2 competition, Sue has become a valuable sixth man for her team. "Sue has excellent quickness and speed," Gallahan commented. "She is a good point guard because of the ability to penetrate and pass off, and, with a nice outside shot, she can play the wing as well. Sue is very capable of starting." Terry should know about playing as well. After sitting out her freshman year, the 5-2 junior joined the swim team as a sophomore. Now as a junior in the rapidly improving program, Terry has two firsts and six seconds in her specialties, the free style and back strokes, through nine meets.

In a weight lifting program in-stituted by first year swim coach Doug Fonder, Terry has distinguish-ed herself. "I'll bet there are only two or three women at Mary Washington who can lift as much with their legs as Terry can," Fonder said. "She is an extremely hard worker who has improved tremen-dously over the course of the season. She is really beginning to swim with

The two sisters are both graduates of South Carroll High School where Terry was a cheerleading captain and Sue was an All County and All Tri-state athlete in hockey, basket-ball, and softball. And both are kept busy attending each other's events. "I try to attend all of Sue's games, but swimming practice sometimes interferes," Terry says. Likewise,

"If I can, I'll always go to Terry's meets" Sue agrees.

Two younger Lehmans are still at home, high school junior Patty and nine year old Joey. Will they go to Mary Washington?

The two sisters smile. "I don't know," Sue grins. "We'll let her pick. I'm sure she'll chose the right place," Terry laughs.

Sorry...

Two mistakes were made in the sports section of last week's BULLET. Junior Terry Hudachek was listed as a sophomore, and Terry Rose's college in Kentucky was spelled "Center College" rather than "Centre College". These mistakes were made by the sports editor, and will not be made again in his lifetime.

SPORTS CALENDAR

MEN'S BASKETBALL

Feb. 11--Catholic at MWC, 8 p.m. Feb. 13--MWC at York, 2 p.m.

Feb. 16--Shenandoah at MWC, 8 p.m.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

Feb. 10-Averett at MWC, 7 p.m.

Feb. 12--MWC at Sweet Brian, 7 p.m. Feb. 13--Bluefield at MWC, 4 p.m.

Feb. 16-MWC at Roanoke, 7 p.m.

SWIMMING

Feb. 12--MWC at Sweet Briar, 4 p.m.

Luncheon Special

Monday thru Friday 11:30 am to 2 pm

Slice of Pizza

75 cents

Buy a slice of pizza or a bowl of soup and you get all you can eat SALAD BAR for only

TUESDAY NIGHT BUFFET

Each Tuesday night 5:30 until 8:30 pm All the sald, piz 3, spaghetti, cavatini and Garlic Bread you can eat for your Home Tong

NOW 3 LOCATION TO SERVE YOU

Phone Any Location For Carry Out

JEFFERSON DAVIS HWY.

FOUR MILE FORK

BEE HIVE LOUNGE

Best in Disco, Rock and Top 40

Open Every Night 8:30 pm

Closed Tuesday

Next door to THE PIZZA HUT

The Virginia Department of State Police is an EEO Employer and is currently recruiting ap-plicants for the position of Trooper, and is interested in and receptive to female applicants for Trooper on an equal basis with all other applicants. Qualified applicants must be in good physical condition, 21 through 29 years of age and willing to work anywhere in Virginia. Top Trooper salary is $19,991. For additional information, contact any State Police Office or member of the Department.

Circle X

Surplus jeeps, cars, and available. Many sell for under $200. Call (312)742-1143 ext. 5083 for information on how to purchase.

College nights Tuesday and Thursday

Discount with ID

OPEN

SPECIAL HAPPY HOUR

Friday 3-7